

OREGON CHAINSAW COMPANY
1950-1955
The Oregon Chainsaw Company was founded in 1950 by Eugene A. Peterson and his brother-in-law, John Peterson. The company was initially a partnership between the two brothers and their father, Eugene Peterson, Sr. The company's first product was a chainsaw, which was designed and manufactured in Eugene, Oregon. The Oregon Chainsaw Company became a major manufacturer of chainsaws in the United States and Canada, and its products were sold in over 100 countries. The company was acquired by the Husqvarna Group in 1985 and is now a part of the Husqvarna Corporation.

OREGON CHAINSAW COMPANY
1950-1955
The Oregon Chainsaw Company was founded in 1950 by Eugene A. Peterson and his brother-in-law, John Peterson. The company was initially a partnership between the two brothers and their father, Eugene Peterson, Sr. The company's first product was a chainsaw, which was designed and manufactured in Eugene, Oregon. The Oregon Chainsaw Company became a major manufacturer of chainsaws in the United States and Canada, and its products were sold in over 100 countries. The company was acquired by the Husqvarna Group in 1985 and is now a part of the Husqvarna Corporation.